- c. Historical Landmarks

The inventories of the different national cultural agencies in accordance with their charters are maintaining their respective inventories as required by law as described above.

With respect to the Philippine Registry of Cultural Property (PRECUP), however, the inventory of items of intangible cultural heritage is done in several steps at the NCCA with respect to the five domains of intangible cultural heritage defined by UNESCO, in a format patterned after UNESCO ICH formats:

- 1) Ethnographic literature is scanned for inventory items and
- 2) These are entered into a preliminary inventory in narrative text format;
- 3) The individual intangible items are later transferred into a database format;
- 4) The database is then uploaded and integrated with the Cultural Databank (CDB) of the NCCA Portal.

The central inventory at the NCCA is contained in the Cultural Data Bank (CDB) in the NCCA Portal. This particular inventory contains both tangible and intangible collection items. This inventory will be continually augmented by three persons who undertake both the research and inputting of data into the inventories.

2. Inventory Information

A. Title(s)

Philippine Registry of Cultural Property (PRECUP) includes both tangible and intangible important cultural property. This is presently being implemented under Republic Act 10066. This part of the Cultural Databank (CDB) of the National Commission for Culture and the Arts, found in the NCCA Portal. The CDB is maintained in confidence.

B. Number of inventories

There are three (3) categories in the PRECUP (3): Tangible, Intangible and Endangered but presently, at the NCCA, and these inventories are variously ramified by the domains described in the foregoing registries on cultural agencies.

C. Number of designated items

Since the PRECUP itself is not yet being implemented, what the NCCA has at this point is the preliminary enumeration consisting of 349 pages of cursory listing of the items with some descriptions, and 263 items in the intangible inventory.

D. Frequency of designation

Irregular. This is circumstantial.

E. Date of most recent update

June 2010

F. Establishment of an expert advisory panel

The NCCA has nineteen (19) advisory panels in its structure composed of nineteen (19) committees under four (4) subcommissions. All the members of these committees are composed of volunteers specializing in different disciplines in the field of culture and arts. The membership are changed every three years.

- (m) The Office of the Special Envoy on Transnational Crimes which shall have the oversight and operational capacity to go after illicitly trafficked and stolen cultural treasures.

An appropriate office is being organized within the structure of the NCCA. Operationally, pending this, the NCCA/Intangible Cultural Heritage Committee is implementing the intangible heritage portion of the law.

2. Designated heritage

A. Registration and conservation of cultural property

Establishment of a Philippine Registry of Cultural Property (PRECUP) including both tangible and intangible cultural property. - All cultural property of the country deemed important to cultural heritage shall be registered in the Philippine Registry of Cultural Property.

The National Commission for Culture and the Arts (NCCA), through the appropriate cultural agencies and local government units, shall establish and maintain this Registry. The guidelines in the registration of cultural property are as follows:

- (a) All cultural agencies concerned shall individually maintain an inventory, evaluation and documentation of all cultural properties it has declared according to their category and shall submit the same to the Commission. For cultural property declared as Immovable Cultural Property, the appropriate cultural agency shall, after registration, give due notice to the Registry of Deeds having jurisdiction for annotation on the land titles pertaining to the same;
- (b) Local government units, through their cultural offices, shall likewise maintain an inventory of cultural property under its jurisdiction and shall furnish the Commission a copy of the same;
- (c) Both cultural agencies concerned and local government units shall continuously coordinate in making entries and in monitoring the various cultural properties in their respective inventory;
- (d) All government agencies and instrumentalities, government-owned and/or controlled corporations and their subsidiaries, including public and private educational institutions, shall report their ownership and/or possession of such items to the pertinent cultural agency and shall register such properties within three (3) years from the effectivity of this Act;
- (e) Private collectors and owners of cultural property shall register such properties, within three (3) years from the effectivity of this Act. The private collectors and owners of cultural property shall not be divested of their possession and ownership thereof even after registration of said property as herein required.

Information on registered cultural properties owned by private individuals shall remain confidential and may be given only upon prior consent of the private owner. The Commission shall operate the Registry in the NCCA portal cultural databank.

B. Designated heritage

Included are cultural and natural heritage that is culturally relevant.

Heritage sites protection in the Philippines is a continuing concern of government institutions, primarily: the Unesco National Commission (UNACOM); The National Museum and the National Historical Commission, the declaration of which are summarized as follows:

- 1) UNESCO World Heritage Sites : 8
- 2) National Museum List
 - National Cultural Treasures : 53
 - Important Cultural Properties : 4
 - Archaeological Reservations: 4

C. National Historical Commission of the Philippines List

- 1) National Shrines : 31
- 2) National Historical Landmarks : 102
- 3) National Heritage Houses : 54
- 4) National Historical Site : 5
- 5) National Monument : 5

The different categories are as listed above. The types of ownership are both government and private. We have no compiled tourism statistics on hand on the above, but records of these are in the specific sites.

There is a continuous processing of cultural heritage sites that are to be protected in the programs of the institutions mentioned above, as these items are brought to attention by government institutions and the public.

F. Information regarding holders/bearers

Too voluminous to be enumerated here, and will take extremely a long time frame to accomplish since many of the holders/culture bearers are usually the members of the whole society. For example, the ritual practitioners (mumbaki) among the Ifugao are usually practically all the males in the society. This is compounded by the fact that for one ritual alone – the agricultural- there are at least twenty two rites participated in differentially by a number of mumbakis.

Again, considering that there are at least eighty major ethno-linguistic groups, and more than four hundred sub-groupings, an enumeration of information regarding holders/culture bearers is impossible to enumerate in this document.

4. Non-governmental inventory

Private collectors and owners of cultural property shall register such properties, within three (3) years from the effectivity of this Act. The private collectors and owners of cultural property shall not be divested of their possession and ownership thereof even after registration of said property as herein required.

Initially this will correspond to the number of non-government i.e. private school museums and private collections. The listing of private collection is considered confidential and requires the permission of owners for release.
